The Competition

Wind turning, your scrawny craft upper-
cut. How come

you couldn't sense
it early? Since
cues are eternal-

ly there in water
and in air, angles

of the sun, vapory intimations, almost-
sounds beginning.

The wrench-
ing solitary
cloud, your

lover’s eyes
gnawing the moon.